

The Payne-Allegation

On the 16th of May 2007, two doctor friends of the McCanns, and the Paynes, make a statement to Leicestershire Police (LP) in which they express their concern over sexually suggestive gestures made by David Payne on a previous holiday in Majorca. These alleged gestures are considered, by one of the witnesses, to be consistent with acts of paedophilia. Obviously on 20th of May 2007 Gerry McCann was ordered home where he met Clarence Eden Mitchell first time on a 'circumstantial meeting' in the office of LP. The statements then were not sent from LP to the Policia Judiciária \(PJ\) until 24 October 2007 (arriving on 26 October 2007), 24 days after Gonçalo Amaral had been removed from the investigation.

Witnesses:

→Katherina Zacharias Gaspar, Friend of the McCann family, 'Payne allegation', p. 3916 (saw and heard the event)

See more details at →McCannfiles

See also →Good Quality Wristbands-Blog: "Did Jim Gamble Sanitize Gerry McCann's CATS File 19309?"

Disturbing fact is: The Payne-Allegation was never followed by British Police. The Gaspar statement was withheld from the PJ until end of October 2007, when Goncalo Amaral was already dismissed from the investigations. Neither Gerry McCann nor David Payne were ever questioned about this severe allegation. See especially David Payne's last interview →on 11-April-2008 where the British Officer never hooked in when the crucial Majorca holiday came into discussion. The 2008 rogatory took place in Leicestershire UK on demand of the PJ. But although Portuguese PJ was attendant the Portuguese were not allowed to ask any questions by themselves.

The Gaspar Statement

Extract of witness statement Katherina Gaspar on 16/05/2007:

In September of 2005, Savio, I and E., who at the time was about 1 and a half years old, went to spend our holidays abroad, in Majorca. We went (page 2) on holiday with Kate, Gerry, and Madeleine, who would have been around 2 and a half years old and with the twins, Sean and Amelie, who were just months old. I remember that I was pregnant with I.

During those holidays there were also friends of Gerry and Kate with us. There was a couple, whose names were Dave and Fiona, and whose surname was PAYNE, I believe. I think that they were married and had one daughter aged about 1, named L. I remember that during those holidays that Fiona was pregnant. There was another couple, whose names were Tara and Stuart, but whose surname I cannot remember who were also on holiday with us. They had two boys, aged 1 and 3, whose names I do not remember. I did not know these two families before we went on holidays together. From memory, I think that it was Dave who organised these holidays and we all stayed together in a big house when we were in Majorca.

We spend a week on holidays, however, the MCCANN family and the PAYNE family stayed for two weeks. I think that Tara and Stuart, and their two children, also stayed for just one week. Two or three days had gone by, we were all staying in Majorca where, in general terms, we had fun with our children. Possibly, around the fourth or perhaps the fifth day abroad, I remember an incident that stayed recorded in my head. I say this in this way, because I have thought numerous times about the incident that I am about to describe since that date. One night, when we were on holiday, the adults, in other words, the couples that I mentioned were on a patio outside the house where we were staying. We had been eating and drinking.

I was sitting between Dave and Gerry whom I believe were both talking about Madeleine. I don't remember the conversation in its entirety, but it seemed they were discussing a possible scenario. I remember Dave telling Gerry something like "she", referring to Madeleine, "would do this". When he mentioned "this", Dave was sucking on one of his fingers, pushing it in and out of his mouth, whilst with the other hand he circled his nipple, with a circulating movement over his clothes. This was done in a provocative manner there being an explicit insinuation in relation to what he was saying and doing. I remember that I was shocked at this, and looked at Gerry, and also at Dave, to see their reactions. I looked around to see ?did anyone else hear this, or was it just me?. There was a nervous silence noted in the conversations of all the others and immediately afterwards everyone began talking again. I never spoke to anyone about this, but I always felt that it was something very strange and that it wasn't something that should be done or said.

Apart from this, I remember that Dave did the same thing once again. When I refer to this, I want to mention again that it was during a conversation, in which he was talking about an imaginary situation, though I could not say precisely what it was about. I believe that he was talking about his own daughter, L., though I'm not certain. He slid one of his fingers in and out of his mouth, while the other hand drew a circle around his nipple in a provocative and sexual manner. I believe that he was referring to the way that L., would behave or would do it.

I believe that he did this later on, during the holidays, but I cannot be sure. The only time, besides this one, that I was with Dave and Fiona was several weeks after the holidays, when Savio and I met up with Gerry, Kate, Dave and Fiona at a restaurant in Leicester. I am absolutely certain that he said what he said and that he made the gestures I referred to, but that could have occurred in the restaurant in Leicester, even though I believe that it was later on, in Majorca. When I heard Dave saying and doing this a second time, I took it more seriously. I remember thinking whether he looked at the girls in a different way from me or from the others. I imagined that maybe he had visited Internet sites related to small children. In short, I thought that he might be interested in child pornography on the internet.

During our holidays, I was more attentive at the bath times after hearing Dave saying that. During our holidays in Majorca, it was the fathers who took care of the children baths. I had the tendency to walk close to the bathroom, if it was Dave bathing the children. I remember telling Savio to take care to be there, in case it was Dave helping to bathe the children and, in particular, my daughter E. I was very clear about this, as having heard him say that had disturbed me, and I did not trust him to give bath to E. alone.

When I heard Dave say that a second time, it reinforced what I already thought in relation to his thoughts about girls. During our stay in Majorca, Dave and his wife, Fiona, accompanied by their daughter L., took Madeleine with them to spend the day, in order to give Kate and Gerry a bit of rest and time to be with the twins. When I say this, it is not that I was worried about Madeleine's safety, since she was also with Fiona and L., and also with Dave, as far as I know. As I have already mentioned, I was only with Dave and Fiona on one occasion, after Majorca, and I have not spoken to them since then. In the last two years, we have met, as a family, with the MCCANN, every now and then. This mainly happens on the children's birthdays, a time when we meet up.

The Payne Statement about Madeleine

→ David Payne describes Madeleine

Extract from David Payne's rogatory statement to Leicestershire Police on 10 April 2008

24 April 2009

"Mmm..., errr... Madeleine's, errr... a very striking, errr... beautiful child, I'd almost - if I want a better phrase - call her doll-like, you know. She was very, you know, I think, you know, very unique looking child, errr... she'd got very pretty, you know, blonde hair, errr... in a bob, she was quite a petite, errr... child and, you know, she was very bubbly, very, errr... you know, she was a very good child to, to interact with. She was very bright, you could have a lot of fun with Madeleine, errr... and, you know, she, she was, you know, Kate and Gerry's, you know, pride and joy. They'd had a lot of trouble conceiving, you know, with IVF and everything and, you know, Madeleine was their miracle. She was obviously very unique with the fact that she'd got the, you know, the iris defect, errr... but, you know, she was certainly a happy go lucky child, you know, she was, she would interact with the other children very well, as I said on the other, earlier recording, you know, she played very happily with Lily and, you know, indeed the other children. She was, you know, very... she is a very beautiful child and good fun."

“You know, I, you know, a fact I've come across already you know, she was a... she's a very bright child, you know, she wouldn't be the kind of mischievous child who, you know, and just try and get out of the flat and, you know, get up to mischief and that, you know, there's fun in all children but she certainly wasn't that kind of child. She was very bright.”

Remark: The Payne testimony at Leicester Police is badly to understand, full of stammering. If we just edit out all nonsense stammering we find out what he said more exactly:

Madeleine's, a very striking, beautiful child. I'd almost - if I want a better phrase - call her doll-like. She was very, I think, very unique looking child. She'd got very pretty, blonde hair, in a bob, she was quite a petite, child and she was very bubbly, she was a very good child to interact with. She was very bright, you could have a lot of fun with Madeleine. She was Kate and Gerry's pride and joy. They'd had a lot of trouble conceiving, with IVF and everything and Madeleine was their miracle. She was obviously very unique with the fact that she'd got the iris defect. She was certainly a happy go lucky child, she would interact with the other children very well. As I said on the other earlier recording, she played very happily with Lily and, indeed the other children. She was, very... she is a very beautiful child and good fun. (...) I, a fact I've come across already, she was a... she's a very bright child. She wouldn't be the kind of mischievous child who, and just try and get out of the flat and, get up to mischief and that. There's fun in all children but she certainly wasn't that kind of child. She was very bright.

Interesting how he rephrases “She was, very... she is a very beautiful child and good fun” and again later “she was a... she's a very bright child”. Seemingly he knew more than he said.

Gerry's CATS record

We find some Information available on the CATS-System on the website of the WPC-Software Company which actually sells the system to UK police forces and government:

The →CATS Software (Case Administration and Tracking System) consists of three modules - Child Protection, Domestic Abuse and Vulnerable Adult. The CATS system was developed in the absence of a national database for Child Protection, and in light of the recommendation in Lord Laming's Report into the death of Victoria Climbié that Chief Constables must ensure that their police force has in use an effective Child Protection database and IT management system.

- CATS gives a much clearer picture of the child or vulnerable person referred to them. The data collected in CATS can be used to piece together vital information on family background of that individual, helping the user make more informed decisions.
- CATS may also be used to help identify previous accusations against suspects offering further lines of investigation and valuable information to help assess the safety of the vulnerable person.
- Incidents go through a managed process, from a new referral to a finalised incident. As a case is progressed, CATS validates the information collected and ensures the case has visibility to the relevant officers and staff members.
- Incident Reports can be generated for sharing of information between Police and Social Services.
- A full audit trail is available in CATS, which enables supervisors to monitor usage of the system.

Customers who use CATS include:

- Dyfed Powys Police
- Leicestershire Police
- Warwickshire Police

Words of praise: I am very pleased with the recent developments to CATS which are in response to the requirements of those officers and staff using the system every day.' The Strategic Group are particularly excited by current work to merge child abuse, domestic abuse and vulnerable adult referrals. Detective Superintendent Jackie Alexander, Former Chairperson of the National CATS Strategic Group see blog entry → Gerald McCann CATS system registration number 19309:

This topic of discussion is far from new, though no less important for being that, but it is doing the rounds currently on Twitter. Much of it revolves around this claim by a certain 'KaOssis.' Posted verbatim.

Gerry McCann was convicted for child sex abuses in 2002, although the evidence has been hacked and emptied from the case file by someone who has access to the National Sex Offenders Register, namely Jim Gamble though the CEOP mainframe connected to every police station crime files in the UK, the reference for this conviction still exists in the judicial reference files and confirms that Gerald P McCann was placed on the Child Sex Offenders Register following conviction in court, and is still on that register today! .

Subject: Background Information- Gerald McCANN

Dear Sirs

In response to your letter of request, I can provide the following information regarding the above-mentioned subject

Gerald McCann was born on June 5, 1968 in Scotland.

He is the bearer of British passport No xxxxxxxxxx.

He lives with his wife and children at Orchard House, 5 The Crescent, Rothley, Leicestershire, LE7 7RW.

The house is subject to a mortgage for the amount of GBP 323.493 with the Northern Rock Bank.

There is no report or statement of bank credit cards listed in the research carried out. However I was alerted to the fact that if an individuals maintains an open account with the same bank or a credit card for a long period of time, these details do not appear in this type of research.

He works for the NHS as a cardiologist at Glenfield hospital.

His previous address was 14 Queniborough Hall Drive, Queniborough, Leicestershire, LE7 3DZ.

His phone number is xxxxxxxxxx and he has a mobile phone Vodafone No xxxxxxxxxx.

He is the owner of two vehicles registered in the PNC, a light blue Volkswagen Passat - R119 and a green BVV VW Touran, FM54 CXR.

No record was found in the National Police Computer. Search reference NE91/0031.

A search of the crime location and information system only indicates that Mr McCann was the victim of a theft of golf clubs from inside his car in the drive way to his home on 01/04/2006. Criminal Reference NQ/010145/06-9

A search of the local section of the child abuse shows a registration number 19309 in the CATS system. A consultation with the DC Soand from the department in question confirms that this is just a file reference, but as a complement to Operation Task system for the purpose of reference, if any investigation should be necessary by the department. No work has been done on the basis of this file.

An examination of all other police files using a search system does not reveal any information about him.

Submitted for your information."

The sentence "but as a complement to Operation Task system for the purpose of reference, if any investigation should be necessary by the department" sounds much disturbing.

This is as

1. if he is not thought to be an offender it would mean, that everybody in the UK actually has a CATS paedophile registration file, which but definitely is nonsense, or it means
2. Gerry McCann indeed is registered (just as the record already shows), and he is still under police suspicion to do more offenses against children.
3. alternative there could be the possibility, that the CATS record stems from the 16-May-2007 itself. As a matter of fact the case but was filed as "National Security" through political interference by Downing Str.No.10: Indeed neither Gerry nor David where ever questioned about the allegations until today.

David Payne's Statement about the Majorca Event

The 2008 Payne Interview is full of stammering and a very bad reading. For that reason we deleted the (from forensic but not ignorable) "err""s and "You know""s phrases which together appear 1508 times in the interview. We will look in this extract just at the parts which relate to the "Payne-Allegation" which is the "Majorca-event":

1485 [the number 1485 is an alias for anonymous Leicestershire Police (LP) Officer] "Last

May, and your answers may not be parallel to what you spoke to them about, don't worry about it, you know it's passage of time but all I'm asking you to do is to try and recall as much as you can, the days leading up to Madeleine MCCANN'S disappearance because that's what we're here to investigate and at the end of the day you are our witnesses, you're not a suspect you are our witnesses, do you understand that"

Reply [here always David Payne] "I do, yes."

Remark: The police officers clears David's role as a witness: "you're not a suspect you are our witnesses, do you understand that?". The difference is a witness has to answer and tell the (subjective) truth. A suspect but has always the right to be accompanied by a Lawyer and has to say just nothing if he thinks it could be unfavourable to him or his close relatives. This means, if there is, or is found out within the interview, any reason to suggest that the witness indeed maybe a suspect, then the Officer has to stop the interview and to declare the witness now to be a suspect. And to allow him to get a Lawyer and to say nothing if he likes.

Since the interview was held at LP about a year after the so called "Payne-Allegation" we have to question: Did Officer 1485 know about the related statements of the Gaspar's? If not, why wasn't he informed? If yes, why didn't he state that Payne was, or even could be supposed to be, a suspect? An answer could be, as it is not that unusual, that a police officer will decide within an interview to change the role of the witness to a suspect or not. This is, as otherwise he possible won't get the searched for "last" information needed to get him a suspect. As with the suspect status from the beginning on, he may say just nothing. Just like Kate McCann on the famous 48-question event in Portimao. So let us look, if the needed information comes out anywhere later:

1485 "Just imagine that you haven't spoke to anybody in Portugal about this and tell me in the beginning how it all come to happen, in other words who first decided it was going to be Portugal, and then subsequently what happened up until the day that you went away."

Reply "Okay. it's a long winded answer."

Reply "I mean when we first, the first kind of concept of a group holiday if you like, was when we went to Italy for our wedding where we actually stayed, we had all of the guests staying there for that weekend, and I know they all say your wedding's the best, one of the best days in your life but it was just absolutely fantastic. We had children staying there and it was just such a great occasion with, with everyone around and everyone came and said what a fantastic, time that they'd had so that was the kind of, if you like, the beginnings of that, that concept of a group holiday we then subsequently we did have holidays with other people, we went away with Kate and Gerry and other friends to Majorca and again although it was very hard, we'd had difficulties with with our child just sleeping wise and it's hard work but still you appreciated the fact that there's a group of you there and we subsequently had been away with Russell, Jane, and Matt and Rachael on another group holiday the year after that, and then so we'd always been looking to do the same things, It is much easier when you have a group of children they interact together and it's great for the parents and you're all at a similar stage in life with the way that they're growing up and so we were always looking to continue that yearly holiday, and we knew that Kate and Gerry had met Russell and Jane and so like with the wedding, so all the people had a reasonable relationship before we'd gone away to Portugal. So we were just looking to continue that last year. we'd all, or certainly we'd been on a Mark Warner before, I think Matt and Rachael and Russell and Jane had been on a Mark Warner type holiday and so we were looking to go on that type of holiday where we had all the amenities that Mark

Warner had to offer so they've got the sporting facilities, they've got the creche facilities for the children and so that, that kind of holiday was what we were looking for.

I'm trying to remember when we first chatted about going on the holiday. I mean I can only remember really that we were trying to arrange it probably two or three months prior to us actually booking the holiday and but probably we'd been chatting it I'm sure before, it may well have been before Christmas. I'd looked on the internet at what the availability was in different locations and Portugal was the only Mark Warner holiday that would offer a holiday at that time of the year. so we were hoping that the weather would be fine and Portugal was a reasonable distance for taking children on the plane So we, we settled on, on that holiday. over the weeks there was quite a lot of discussion about going away, on the Mark Warner holiday the, we, it got to the stage of booking it and then there had been some questioning about the the fact that it wasn't the kind of (inaudible) same holiday as other Mark Warner's and could they guarantee that we would all be together in the apartments and I'd had quite a discussion with Mark Warner email wise just to make, try and make sure that we were guaranteed together."

Remark: Although Payne already mentioned the Majorca holiday, the officer does not insist on this issue. If he knows the Gaspar statement he but must do so. Lets look further on.

Reply "And the rationale for that was just that we would it's just easier if you are all in the same lot, you can go next door and just from the children's point of view we would all be segregated if you like. And then obviously there was the discovery that that wasn't the same, it wasn't the same self contain but yeah there was similar facilities available. I think, yeah so sorry as I was say just to reinforce I quite a lot of correspondence with Mark Warner regarding that and the rest of the group. I think when you, when you're booking a holiday like this I quite enjoy sorting it out for everybody and feel some, it makes me feel good about myself if I've managed to arrange it for everybody and taken the hard work out of it and I ended up organising our wedding because Fiona had got her exams, and it was the same thing a lot of people enjoyed themselves, I wanted to try and do the same thing, make it easier for everybody, and yeah I know that again there'd been some concern from Kate and Gerry that they wanted to go away on that, both parties weren't a hundred percent sure on that type of holiday. I can't say exactly what the reasons,

I can't remember and from that point of view but in the end we just thought oh it's a great holiday there's, everybody knows everybody and that we would have a very good time there. There was some discussion about where we would fly from and who would fly with who and whether we take the Mark Warner flights and from that point of view we originally, we eventually settled on that we would fly out from East Midlands with Kate and Gerry because the timing of the flights was, was perfect, it wasn't too early in the morning so we don't have to go at some ridiculous hour, we don't want to arrive there with kids tired, and so we, we, myself, Fiona and Lily and Scarlet then flew out with Kate and Gerry, Sean, Amelie and Madeleine, and that was basically how we ended up booking the holiday and arriving there."

Remark: The officer makes not any try to get any more informations about the famous Majorca-event. Is he really that an unprofessional police officer? Or is he just not informed? Or is he forbidden to ask any questions in the crucial direction?

Later on there again the Majorca holidays are mentioned, again by David Payne:

1485 "The first question is an obvious question. How long have you known Gerry and Kate. And what kind of a relationship do you have with the couple"

Reply "Yeah, I say Fiona first worked with Kate at an anaesthetic registrar and I was doing research back in two thousand, so that's we ended up going out for the night and then we're very good friends ever since. We went away to Lanzarote that was gonna be about two thousand and three, they came to our wedding later in two thousand and three. We went to Majorca with them a year later and again had a very good holiday with them there. we see them, re, quite frequently, we've always got on extremely well. The more I know Gerry the more I like the guy, and it works great because Fiona has a really good relationship with Kate, I get on really well with Gerry, I get on well with Kate as well. Our kids all get on well together and we, they, they are just such lovely people they've got time for absolutely every, anybody and to hear the things that have been said about them again is just, it's completely heartbreaking really because they are, they're just, they are the salt of the earth they really are."

1485 "Have you ever been at Kate and Gerry's home when their children have been at home. And if so, how many times"

Remark: Well, does the LP Officer now do his first try in the desired professional direction? Let's see.

Reply "Yes, I mean we, we know them when they were living at, obviously when they were at Queniborough first, we've known Madeleine ever since, she's been around and we went over to see them in Amsterdam as well and you watched Madeleine, we were all the staying there together then since the twins have been around we've been round as well so we've been many, many times when they've been together, the children have been there so yeah."

1485 "Were your children present as well"

Reply "Yeah, yeah, because obviously between the five children and we've known them ever since, before we've had children and then when each one's come along we've always been, each family's been pleased for the other family if you like and there's always, wanted to be available when you, your children are being born and congratulate and to help and and so I think ever since we've known them and since we had children we've always been around."

1485 "And the next question is have you ever been on holiday with them before. Well yes you have."

Reply "Mm."

1485 "How did they take care of the children at night when you went away with them before"

Reply "when we were, when we were, well when they came to our wedding first of all Madeleine was very young then so they kept her with them at all times. When we went to Majorca together it was a big building for, big enough for four couples and the family and we just stayed at that particular farm house, all the time really so if, when the kids went to bed we were downstairs. They, when we were there they were downstairs so they weren't far away from where we were staying that night and their kids slept very well that holiday and but they were, they were very close by and people were passing by just to check on the kids upstairs because we were having a bit more of a problem so there was a lot of activity not far away from where their children were, they'd all slept very well in that early part of the evening, well I think through the night generally. So we were very close by we were, we ate generally in, in the place itself which wasn't many metres away but certainly they were very responsible and certainly nothing."

Remark: At this point it gets indeed ridiculous. This is exactly the point where any professional interviewer would cut in and insist one more details about the direction of possible paedophile engagements of Gerry and David. A professional must, if he is informed about the Gaspar statement, which is a professional must also in regular cases. So what will he do now?

1485 "The next question is, how often did you meet Kate and Gerry during the holiday between the twenty eighth and the third. I think we've already covered that haven't we."

Reply "Yeah, yeah. Less frequently than probably other people but we all met up, and certainly in the evenings and play time."

Remark: Wow, he doesn't, HE changes to Portugal! Why that? Does he want to do another try to get more informations, to be eventually be better prepared to give David a suspect status later? So, again let's see:

1485 "How often did you see Madeleine"

Reply "Sorry can I just go back to that""

1485 "Yeah."

Reply "I mean also there was times when we did the picking up at the creche, Lily was always at the same creche as Sean and Amelie so I would generally meet Gerry when we, when the creche had finished in the morning, when, because that was the only time that Lily went there so I either, generally saw either Kate or Gerry at that time."

1485 "Yeah."

Reply "So that was also another moment that we generally linked up."

1485 "Well other than, because you played tennis on the third, so other than the third was there any other times that you played tennis with Gerry"

Remark: What is this now? Asking "How often did you see Madeleine" seemed to be a good try, but now he not only allows him to change the theme, the OFFICER changes the theme to pissant tennis HIMSELF! Is he really uninformed or just dumb? Or is he instructed by his Chiefs to cover up the Gaspar-Allegation?

Reply "Oh yeah, there was, one, one evening there was a fastest serve evening and we had a bit of fun all trying to out the machine which measured how quickly you served, so that was the evening that we played, I'm sure there must have been another time that we'd had a knock as well."

1485 "Have you ever felt you had a reason to become concerned about the children"

Reply "During the holiday or generally. This answer's probably the same anyway to""

1485 "Generally I would think."

Reply "No, Kate and Gerry I think it's, they've had the twins, it's never difficult, sorry it's never easy looking after twins, my sister's got twins and and it was very difficult for them. Madeleine would often get up in the night and go and sleep in the same bed as Kate and Gerry so I think their sleep patterns were pretty disturbed and I always marvelled at how well, I mean I'd be so much more tired than they were and, and grouchy but they never were. They were never, I, I've never ever seen either of them lose it with, with the kids they, they tell them off as any parent does but no, not particularly forcefully as, and they have they've always been such an even keel that you just have to admire how they've brought their, their family up, and children up."

1485 "When was the first time that you saw Kate and Gerry on that Thursday"

Reply "Thursday. Again, I can't, the only moments I can definitely say is when I saw Gerry before the tennis and then I saw Kate but there must have been some other time during the day but I'm not sure."

1485 "So seeing Kate in the apartment"

Reply "Yeah."

1485 "Was that the first time that you saw her that day"

Reply "I, I can't, I can't recall seeing her before that but I'm not saying that I didn't see her."

1485 "Yeah."

Reply "err ""

Remark: And so on and so on. The whole (very long and stammering up to be unreadable) interview the Officer never comes to the core of the case. Never.

The Nigel Event

A guest at the Ocean Club expressed concerns over Russell O'Brien filming his child. Interesting reading Russell O'Brien account of the mini tennis session on Thursday 3 May:

"Earlier that day there had been tennis lessons for the children, with some of the parents watching proudly as their girls ran across the court chasing tennis balls. They took photos. Madeleine must have been there, but I couldn't distinguish her from the others. They all looked the same - all blonde, all pink and pretty. Jes and Gerry were playing on the next court. Afterwards, we sat by the pool and Gerry and Kate talked enthusiastically to the tennis coach about the following day's tournament. "

This was presumably the mini-tennis session when Kate and Russell (and/or other member of their party perhaps) were caught video-recording another holiday-maker's (Nigel) child. In his first police statement Russell recalls this incident. And the inference is that Nigel approached them to tell them that their filming of his daughter is making him feel uncomfortable. When questioned about this in the earlier police interview, Russell claims he does not remember seeing a video-camera at all.

This is deeply suspicious as is the fact that this account is then changed in Russell's later statements (when he has had time to get his sanitise his story) to corroborate with the account as written by Kate in her book. Russell goes on at great length about this episode in later statements - and the police, too, seem to find this episode of interest.

If Russell's first police statement is true and if Nigel did approach the group as he was concerned over their behaviour with regard to filming his daughter which 'made him feel uncomfortable', then both Kate and Russell have been hugely deceptive and have spun very hard indeed to turn the incident on its head. Nigel is clearly a key witness and, as he appears not to know the McCanns, has no reason to lie. And what's more he is unlikely to forget the encounter as the behaviour of either Russell or Kate (or whoever else was part of the group at the time) made him feel uncomfortable enough for him to approach them and tell them so. As is logged in Russell's first police statement. Rather than denying this happened, Russell simply appears to deny the existence of the video-recorder.

Kate's account of this episode in her book has always struck me as extraordinary. Until now, I couldn't understand why Russell's account was completely different to what Kate had written in her book. But then I read Russell's later witness statements in which the account is changed to be in line with Kate's. Kate's version of events places the video-recorder in Nigel's hands (page 64) but, presumably to place a smoke-screen around Nigel's suspicions of the behaviour of the McCann group, she attributes the thoughts and feelings that one imagines Nigel had about the group ('why the heck are those strangers filming my daughter') firmly onto Nigel himself. She even plants words in his mouth!

So, it is Nigel himself who, according to Kate, is looking 'a little embarrassed' as filming his daughter 'makes him feel like a dirty old man'. This conversation then, according to Kate, leads on to the subject of paedophilia.

All this is beyond suspicious. There is no earthly reason why a normal, caring, responsible father would be 'embarrassed' about video-recording his three-year-old daughter playing mini-tennis. It is an entirely normal thing for a parent to do on holiday. And for this perfectly normal father to then start chatting about paedophilia to other parents - it is ludicrous, as Gerry might say. The reality, imo, which Kate is trying so hard to deny is that it was Nigel who thought there was something suspicious in their behaviour as why would you video-record a child who you do not know on holiday? Especially when you can't be bothered to video-record your own children, or even take a single photograph during the entire holiday. (The alleged final two are fakes, imo, and in any case did not appear until WEEKS after the holiday, which is highly suspicious in itself). Not even your friends can produce any photographs of Madeleine (or the twins) with buddies. This is so suspicious.

Kate even has the audacity to suggest in her book that Nigel (remember - he found their behaviour suspicious) agrees (page 64) with Russell and Kate's sentiments that everyone is paranoid and 'it has all got a bit out of hand.' She then adds a further layer of duplicity and spin with the sentence: "It would be some days before Russell and I were able to acknowledge to each other the horrible irony of this conversation."

The McCann group have no photos of Madeleine on that holiday at all apart from two dodgy ones that appear weeks after they came home, yet they find the time to video-record another holiday-maker's child who appears to be a complete stranger. Astonishing. Notice how Russell and Kate give an account of the mini-tennis session which their daughters allegedly participated in on different days. Kate writes Tuesday while Russell claims it is Wednesday. Russell: "I recall that Madeleine and Ella had had a similar lesson the day before". As the Nigel encounter was allegedly on Thursday, the day before would be Wednesday.

Whereas Kate apparently remembers this day so vividly that watching Madeleine playing mini-tennis "my heart soared with pride" to the extent that she ran back to the apartment to get her camera. Given the great lengths that Gerry, Kate and their friends have gone to to place Madeleine as happy, alive and well running around the resort - with supposed 'last photos' taken on Tuesday and Thursday, one can only conclude that *something* happened before this.

Linkage to Paedophile Clement Freud in Praia da Luz

Finally we have MP and Paedophile Clement Freud, see his connection to the McCann's →Emails between 'paedophile' Clement Freud and Madeleine McCann's parents to be probed for child sex abuse inquiry:

“Emails between 'predatory paedophile' Sir Clement Freud and Madeleine McCann's parents are set to be probed as part of a child sex abuse inquiry. Messages exchanged between the late MP and the parents of missing Madeleine will be submitted to an inquiry into historic abuse allegations, according to The Star. The revelation comes after news the ex-MP and TV and radio star had a villa in the resort Madeleine McCann vanished from and befriended her parents Kate and Gerry in the weeks after she went missing. A woman who says she was a victim of Freud claims she told police about his links to the family, but nothing was done. Now Vicky Hayes, 64, says she she reported her concerns to police two years after reading Kate McCann's book Madeleine. Vicky had found that Freud appeared to be a private person who did not enjoy the media spotlight and found the idea of him entertaining the McCanns, after Madeline disappeared, odd. She told ITV News: “I read Kate McCann's book and was immediately upset and anxious that Clement Freud had invited the McCanns to his home. He was a private man, not the type to suddenly befriend a couple who had intense media attention. It really jarred with me, left me feeling very uneasy.” ...”

Forensic conclusions

Facts:

1. On 16th of May 2007, just 12 days after the disappearance, the friends Gerry McCann and David Payne where alleged indecent paedophile behaviour regarding Madeleine McCann.
2. The allegat'ons came from a former friend Dr. Katharina Gaspar who attendet the friends holiday's in Majorca.
3. Although Gaspar's concerns point more directly to David Payne, it is clear that Gerry agrees in full with Davids indecent behaviour regarding McCann's daughter Madeleine.
4. The Gaspar's statement is held back by British Police. It will not been send to Portugal before the then main suspects, the parents McCann, are back in UK and not before the Portuguese Investigator G. Amaral is dismissed after some political pressure.
5. On 17 May the Tapas 7 leave Portugal back home. The only Tapas member who stays in Portugal is Gerry's best friend David Payne.
6. On 20 May Gerry McCann is ordered from Praia da Luz to Leicester Police \(LP\) in UK. He will arrive at LP on 21 May 2007.
7. Same day Clarence Eden Mitchell, the then Spokesman of Downing Str. 10 under PM Tony Blair, is also ordered to LP. He there meets Gerry McCann first time.
8. Next day, 22 May 2007, both Gerry and Clarence Mitchell leave together for Portugal. On the plane back to UK on the same day is then his friend David Payne.
9. In Oktober 2007 the Gaspar Statement is given to the PJ in Portugal. There but the Government under PM Socrates have changed Officers and Prosecutor due to political pressure from UK under PM Gordon Brown. The new Officers are considered to be not in the original investigations.

10. In spring 2008 the Portuguese officers want to re-interview the Tapas 9 and others. They are but not allowed to interview the McCann parents again. The Leicestershire Prosecutor denies it with his words cited "this would be just a waste of time...".
11. What they are allowed is to formulate written question at some witnesses which LP officers will ask them. PJ is not allowed to ask them by themselves or to influence the questioning in any way.
12. David Payne is one of the witnesses. British LP officers but deny to question him in any way regarding the Majorca-Event / Gaspar-Statement.
13. In 2009 it was disclosed that the McCann-case is regarded an affair of "National Security"
14. There is definitely a CATS entry in the UK Paedophile Database for Gerry McCann. It is not clear if it is from a conviction of Gerry (alleged 2002, as it would be the usual case) or if the entry was made by an LP officer in the five days between the Gaspar-statement and the day when the case was closed by interference of the UK government on 21th May 2007 (which is not the unusual case).
15. In 2010 Gerry McCann publishes in his Blog the so called Lolita-Photo of his daughter Madeleine.

Conclusions:

- From just common sense it is clear that the so called "Payne Allegation" was covered up.
- But not any government would be eager to cover some paedophile allegations against some ordinary middle-class people.
- Obviously the whole case then must be regarded as an governmental cover-up.
- Thus this must have much more sinister reasons.
- The reason for this must have reason which indeed may be seen as a case of National Security.
- At last we may worry if the victims father Gerry McCann is a paedophile or just a confidant of paedophile behaviour of very influential people.
